

Our Family Legacy

A keepsake for generations to come...

About Our Family Legacy

Our Family Legacy was designed to capture the story of your family and your history. Take a moment to think about the story of your life and how you got to where you are. What trials have you faced and overcome? Take a moment share the experiences that you most enjoyed and that made an impact on you, fond memories that you want to share. Also share the mistakes that you want others to avoid, or that taught you those life lessons that only come through experience. Share those family recipes that you have enjoyed making or eating, or the place that you get that special dessert.

Remember those family vacations or talk about the travel you have done or would one day like to do. What advice would you give your younger self, and is that the same advice you would want your kids to give their kids?

My Legacy in Words

This is your story. There is no right or wrong way to write it. What do you want others to remember about you? What advice do you want to pass on? What has life taught you?

The most important things in life to me:

I am most grateful for:

The most important things I have done:

The most important values I'd like to pass on to my loved ones:

The most important traditions I'd like for my loved ones to continue are:

I'd like to be remembered as:

The people who have influenced me the most are:

What I'd like my loved ones to learn from my experiences:

My greatest accomplishment:

My greatest failure:

My favorite pets:

The history of the traditions that we still do today:

Discuss those sentimental items that are part of your family history and share the story behind each item. (i.e. - "I have Great-Grandpa's first set of tools that he received as a reward for hard work at his first job. He would always say 'that with hard work and diligence you can create great things.' I would like this toolbox to stay in the family and with my daughter to carry this legacy").
